

She starts by thanking Eri for the letter. She speculates that Eri is always busy on the weekends. She says she has various things to do this weekend. She also adds that there is someone that she likes. On Saturday she's going to his birthday party.

Friday

After school she must go to do club activities. She belongs to the music club. Next month is the school concert. She will play the bass guitar; therefore she must practice a lot. Then she will go shopping with her friend Tomomi. She will go to the department store and buy her boyfriend's birthday present. She wants to buy him a trendy sweater. Then they will go to the stationary shop to look for a birthday card. She will also buy some clothes for herself. She likes shopping a lot.

Saturday

Before the party she must do her English homework. She is good at writing essays but they are difficult and stressful to do. She dislikes homework. At the party she will watch videos and talk with friends. No sake though – she's not old enough. She'll write about the party next.